REASONS to pursue the GAC

The ACT® Global Assessment Certificate™ (GAC) is a holistic education program offered around the world that helps students gain admission to competitive international universities where the primary language is English. In addition to developing academic competencies in university, preparation for the ACT® test, a university admissions exam, is included in the GAC curriculum.

Here are eight reasons students should consider pursuing the GAC.

Admission

The GAC program, through its network of Partner Universities, provides a path to admission at some of the world's top schools.

English Language Proficiency

The GAC curriculum is taught in English, providing students a real-life laboratory for perfecting their English in all GAC subjects.

Differentiation

To help differentiate GAC students from other university-bound students, independent learning and teamwork is emphasized through formative assessments.

The ACT Test

GAC students have the opportunity to sit for the ACT close to home if not at their own schools.

Competencies

The GAC program helps students develop real-world competencies that are critical for success in both higher education and the workforce.

Transfer Credit

GAC graduates may qualify for significant transfer credit at many US universities.

Global Perspective

The GAC program gives students a new way to work and interact with the world that is critically important in our global economy.

Scholarships

GAC graduates may qualify for scholarships at some universities.
