

Looking Back at the Class of 2012

Fall 2012 College Enrollment Status

Percent of 2012 ACT-Tested High School Graduates by Number of ACT College Readiness Benchmarks Attained and Fall 2012 College Enrollment Status

More than half of the 2012 ACT-tested high school graduates who enrolled in a 4-year college met three or more of the ACT College Readiness Benchmarks (about 55% of public college enrollees; about 64% of private college enrollees).

About 21% of the graduates who enrolled in a 2-year college met at least three of the ACT College Readiness Benchmarks; 40% of 2-year enrollees met none of the Benchmarks. At least 10% of the 4-year college enrollees met none of the Benchmarks.

Graph reads: In fall 2012, 48% of the 2012 ACT-tested high school graduates whose status was Other/Unknown met none of the ACT College Readiness Benchmarks; 12% of this group met 4 Benchmarks.

Note: Percentages may not sum to 100% due to rounding.
